

Be the Person Your Dog Thinks You Are

Childhood road trips through the diverse landscape of where I grew up ignited a thirst for travelling and experiencing new places.

A dramatic natural landscape will always be inspiring!

How I'd love to see my designs go down in history, loved and used by communities. You know, that spot you tell your secret society to meet up at!

The Ken Spencer Science Park at Telus World of Science in Vancouver and the Hastings Park Master Plan and Empire Fields and the Plateau Sports Park in Vancouver too, put me on the map! I'm guessing some secret societies might have made it their sweet spot since!

My wildest dream is to teleport wherever, whenever! I'd settle for being a glider or an airplane! I'd have an eclectic and international playlist blasting. I'd go to all the mountaintops... overlooking oceans and endless plains or savannahs I could find!

Noam Chomsky, Jacinda Ardern and the late Robin Williams, be my guests! On the menu? A vegan traditional Persian dish.
